Working capital for the whole trade cycle

BOF BANK provides fully fledged Trade Finance solutions for our clients' working capital requirements, structured around each client's business in imports, exports, re-exports, guarantees and financing. Trade Finance is used when buyers and sellers need financing to bridge the trade cycle funding gap, and it can also serve as a form of risk mitigation.

We facilitate the issuance of Documentary Credit and manage it from issuance to settlement, including confirmations and discounting. We also offer Documentary Collections, Receivable Financing, Supply Chain Financing, AVALISATION OF IMPORT Collections and Structured Trade solutions, as well as Guarantees and facilities against Bank Guarantees and SBLCs.

INSTRUMENTS

Trade instruments explained

Letter of Credit

A document issued by a bank to its client, importer or exporter, indicating that the issuing bank will honour and pay a specified amount on demand when specified documents are presented. It sets payment conditions such as amount, currency and expiry date, and is a universally recognised instrument in international trade.

Standby LC

An SBLC is a bank guarantee in Letter of Credit format. As banks in the US were not permitted to issue guarantees, US banks adapted the guarantee format to a Letter of Credit as an alternative.

Letter of Commitment

Commitment letters are contracts obtained by borrowers to assure the availability of financing from a lead lender.

INSTRUMENTS

Collections, factoring and guarantees

Documentary Collection

The collection of a sum of money due from a buyer to a bank against delivery of shipping documents.

Factoring and Invoice Discounting

In factoring, the supplier sells receivables in the form of invoices to the factor, who advances 60 to 85% of the receivable amount. Invoice discounting lets businesses use the value of goods purchased as collateral, giving them cash flow for the period before their buyer pays.

Guarantees and SBLC facilities

BOF BANK facilitates the issuance of various types of Guarantees for corporate business needs and provides facilities against trade instruments such as Bank Guarantees and SBLCs.
